BUSINESS FINANCE TAXATION BMT644 CASE ASSIGNMENT (JOHN MONALILO & RR BUSINESS)

You have just been hired by John Monalilo as a part time tax specialist for his new business located in province of Ontario, Keswick. In 2011, John graduated from McMaster University with a bachelor degree in mechanical engineering and immediately got a permanent full-time job with QR Ltd. Three years later, John started his own sole proprietorship "RR Business" along with his full-time job. RR Business designs and produces sports tools for competitive athletes. Over the past few years, it has built a strong reputation for itself by producing effective products. It is now February 15, 2018, and it's your first day working for John. He calls you into his office to explain what he needs your help with.

John: "Welcome aboard! I'm so glad to have your help. As you know, I currently have a small growing business, and up to now my accountant Eva has been doing all my record keeping using an accounting software". Could you also highlight any tax issues related to 2017 taxation year that I should be aware of?"

You: "I can take a look at that."

John: "Also, I've got a private loan several years ago when I was having some cash flow issues, and the bank insists that I submit financial statements that are compliant with ASPE, and that have been done properly by Eva. However, I have been told that the accounting income should be adjusted to be in accordance with Canadian Income Tax Act, whatever that means. I was wondering if you could help by explaining the tax implications and issues. I read an article about "Section 3 of the Income Tax Act" the other day, it sounded very relevant but was all Greek to me. By the way, I'll email me the latest financial statements of my business (Exhibit I).

You: "No worries John, I would love to help and explain that for you."

John: "Oh ... one other thing. I would like your assistance in filing my 2017 personal income tax return. Here are my records (Exhibit II). Believe me or not, I am not familiar with the Canadian tax rules and for this reason I have not filed a return yet. Lastly, my own sole proprietorship "RR Business" is not currently incorporated. The article said that any good business owner should be thinking about the tax advantages of incorporating. They are including an article on this topic in next month's issue, but I thought you might be able to tell me more. Incorporating never made sense to me and just sounds like a big administrative nightmare. How does incorporating differ from just including the income on my personal tax return? Do I really get tax advantages? Does the tax filing, assessment, instalment, payment deadline defer, how? Could you give me estimates of due amounts and when? What are the ways to minimize my tax payable?

You: "Sure, once I have completed my analysis of your tax information, I'll write a memo explaining all tax implications and issues you have mentioned and determine your income for tax purposes in accordance with section 3 of the Income Tax Act including RR's net income from business for tax purposes for 2017. Furthermore, I'll recommend you a new strategy to minimize your tax payable."

EXHIBIT II JOHN PERSONAL TAX INFORMATION FOR 2017

The following Information represents John's employment and taxation facts:

- 1. John Monalilo is a senior mechanical engineer in the logging industry, QR Ltd., a Canadian public corporation and dealing with QR Ltd. at arm's length.
- 2. John's 2017 gross salary was $90,000, from which QR Ltd. deducted the following amounts:

Income tax	$ 30,000
CPP and EI premiums	3,400
Private health insurance premiums	600
Group sickness and accident insurance premiums	400

In addition to his salary, QR Ltd. paid $2,000 to a deferred profit-sharing plan, $600 of private health insurance premiums, and $400 of group sickness and accident insurance premiums on John's behalf.

- 3. From January 1, 2017 to May 31, 2017 John was entitled to a company car that was purchased for $58,000, including tax. During this period, John drove this car 12,000 km for employment purposes and 8,000 km for personal use. Form June 1, 2017 to September 31, 2017, John was entitled to another company car that was leased for monthly fee $1050, including tax. John drove the second car 2,200 km per month of which 900 km were for employment purposes. In either case, A Ltd. will pay all of the operating costs for the car which are expected to be $2,700 annually.
- 4. John was is required to use his own personal automobile (not belong to his RR Business) for QR Ltd. business from October 1, 2017 to the end of the year. For this, QR Ltd. pays him an annual allowance of $3,600. In 2017, John incurred automobile operating costs of $5,200. Also, in 2017, he purchased a new automobile (for personal use) for $34,000 plus HST (13%), and received $18,000 as a trade on his old car. At the end of the previous year 2016, the old car had an undepreciated capital cost allowance balance of $15,000 (class 10.1). Of the 20,000 kilometers driven in 2017 using his own car, 12,000 were for employment purposes.
- 5. Back in 2013, QR Ltd. granted John an option to purchase 1,000 common shares of the QR Ltd. for $10 per share. The fair market value of the shares at the date the option was granted was $8 per share. No other stock options were granted to this employee during 2013. In 2014, when the shares were worth $16 per share John exercised the option and purchased all 1,000 shares. In the current year 2017, John sold the 1,000 shares for $38 per share. The shares do not have any special dividend rights or restrictions.

6. During 2017, John launched his dream in property investment by purchasing a warehouse property and leased it to QR Ltd. to store construction equipment. The property cost $250,000 (land 30,000, building 220,000). The building was constructed after March 18, 2007. The price for the land includes $2,000 of permanent landscaping completed just this year. The 2017 rental income is summarized below:
