Week 10 Assignment - Is AIDS still a crisis?

Submit Assignment

Due Friday by 11:59pm Points 10 Submitting a text entry box or a file upload

Purpose

Critical analysis is a vital part of learning. The goal of this assignment is to help you practice your skills in reading mainstream media articles and being able to critically evaluate it as a source of information.

Instructions

First, review the AIDS is still a crisis

(https://s3.amazonaws.com/one_org_international/international/media/international/2018/07/24094824/AIDS_Infographic_R4.pdf) infographic by One.org (<https://www.one.org/international/blog/aids-crisis-data-2018/>)

Answer the following question:

- Do you perceive the HIV/AIDS epidemic to be a universal crisis? Why or Why not?

To back your argument...

- Provide examples of the ways populations are made vulnerable by economic and legal challenges.
- Present your thoughts on whether more research funding is needed and possible interventions?
- How would you go about getting US citizens on board.
- Would you discuss both the needs of medical care and emotional care in the fight against HIV/AIDS? Why or Why not? And what might they be?

Guidelines

Your analysis of the article should exhibit careful thought, logical reasoning and provide evidence for your answers. Each post should be at least two well-developed paragraph (approximately 4-6 sentences each minimum). Use correct spelling, punctuation, and grammar. The assignment must be completed by the due dates specified on the assignment itself and also specified in the Course Calendar and on the Course Schedule in the Start Here Module.
