

As you are developing responses to the questions in this exam, think about the requirements associated with the discussion threads. You are to provide complete answers for each of the questions and sub-questions. Your goal is to demonstrate that you fully understand the concepts presented in the modules and you are able to apply those concepts to the scenario. You also need to provide support to your answers just like in the discussion threads. Yes, the text should be cited as well in the exam where appropriate. Any other materials you use in answering your exam should also be cited. All cited materials are to be referenced at the end of the exam.

The responses to the questions are to be complete, detailed and specific. They cannot be answered in just a couple of sentences. It is vital that you don't just present a concept but you provide the concept in relation to the specific scenario. Think in terms of appropriate application of materials to the scenario. Go beyond a superficial answer.
