ECON 2630: Introduction to the World's Economies
Prof. Jonathan Jenner
Final Project

Grading Rubric

In your final project, you are supposed to describe a 'bad' that comes from the production of goods (or services), and then describe an alternative which can mitigate the harms done by that bad.

You will be graded on:

- How you've described the 'bad,' and shown why it is bad. [30%]
- How you've shown how this 'bad' to be connected to an economic process [30%]
- How your proposed alternative can mitigate the effects of the 'bad' [30%]
- Style: Clarity and persuasiveness [10%]

Questions to ask yourself:

- Does my argument and logic make sense?
- Have I provided reasonable, trusted, and verifiable proof for the claims that I am making?
- Is my paper/presentation clear?
  - Is it understandable to me?
  - Is it understandable to a smart friend, who's not an economist
- Is my argument convincing?
  - Do I believe it?
  - Would others be convinced?

If you can answer 'yes' to questions above, you will be in good shape for the final assignment. If you continue to have questions, please meet with me.
