PSY 322 Final Project Guidelines and Rubric

Overview

The final project for this course is the creation of a research paper. The purpose of this assignment is for you to explore aspects of human adolescent development. The final product represents an authentic demonstration of competency because students will critically evaluate adolescent development. The project is divided into five milestones which will be submitted at various points throughout the course to scaffold learning. Milestones will be submitted in Modules Two, Three, Five, Six, and Seven.

Guidelines

The research paper should include the following elements:

1. Research Topic
  - You will submit your research topic from the list below and explain why you find the topic relevant to adolescent development and human development.
    - i. The major developmental theories for children and adolescents
    - ii. Impact of current trends on developing children and adolescents
    - iii. Impact of geography in the sequence of development
    - iv. Physical development from childhood through adolescence
    - v. Cognitive development from childhood through adolescence
    - vi. Social and personality development from childhood through adolescence
    - vii. Emotion and language in varied contexts (e.g., home, school, peers)
    - viii. Age-appropriate milestones and anomalies
2. Annotated Bibliography
  - A list of references in APA format that includes all sources cited in the paper
3. Literature Review
  - Using the Shapiro Library database, find two journal articles related to your selected topic area. Your textbook, Wikipedia, or an assignment. The journal articles must be from peer-reviewed, scholarly journals.
4. Research Paper Draft
  - You will submit a draft of your research paper. The draft should include most of the criteria necessary for the final research paper
5. Final Research Paper

The paper should adhere to the following guidelines:

- The length of the paper should be 8–10 double-spaced pages (not including the title and reference pages).
- The main sections of the paper should be the following:
  - Title page
  - Introduction
  - Literature review
  - Conclusion
  - Reference page(s)
- The paper must use proper APA style for citing sources and references.
- Discussion and conclusions: the difference between a great research paper and a marginal one is the depth and originality of the you bring together what you learned from the literature review (as well as throughout the course) in your concluding remarks re section should be 1–2 pages in length.
