3-1 Discussion: Course Takeaways

 Listen

In this discussion, you will reflect on this course and what you have gained from it.

Discussing challenges that face our world often means investigating opinions and ideas different from your own. Remember to remain thoughtful and respectful toward your peers and instructor in your initial and response discussion posts.

Create one initial post and respond to at least two of your classmates.

For your initial post, address the following:

1. What intellectual or personal growth regarding ethical decision making did you experience in this course?
2. What is an issue that you now approach differently? What has allowed you to look at this differently?
3. Which ethical issues that were mentioned in this week's resources resonated with you the most? Why?

For your response posts, address the following:

1. Which of the ethical issues referred to by your peer do you think will have an impact on global ethics in the future? Why?
2. What roles do you think individuals will play in global ethics to address the ethical issues your peer mentioned?

Remember, your contributions to the discussion play an important part in building the classroom learning community. This assignment is graded on the quality of your initial post and at least two response posts to your classmates. If you refer to any resources, be sure to include an attribution (or citation) for each.

Brightspace allows the addition of video notes in discussion posts. You may use the Video Note tool to complete this assignment. Written posts are equally acceptable. If you use Video Note, your video should be 2–5 minutes long. If you need assistance using Video Note, please refer to the resources in the Start Here module.

I have always avoided topics like politics and the mistreatment of both humans and animals because they are distressing, and the chances of significant change often seem impossible.

Week 8 Discussion

At the start of this course, I viewed decision making solely on what is right and wrong, but after going through this course, I still have the same mindset. However, I am not as close-minded as I used to be. I have learned there are always more ways to look at an issue, and
