Assignment 7: Goods and Services Marketing

The success of a product or a company in the marketplace is highly dependent on the target markets ability to distinguish a given product from another. One way this is accomplished is through branding. When it comes to branding, companies must make complex decisions that will have a prolonged effect on the perception of the product and company in the marketplace. In this discussion, you will discuss product placements based on brand name marketing in the film industry.

Scenario:

Product placement deals have been a common practice in the film industry for quite some time, but the focus on placing popular brands in movies and television shows was never as important as it is today. To execute this Discussion, watch one of your favorite television shows or a recent popular movie and discover a brand of a product that is featured in the plot of the story. Pay close attention, sometimes it can be tricky to identify a popular brand being featured if your mind is not consciously looking for it.

Directions to complete this Assignment:

- Read Chapter 10 in your textbook to understand how companies make branding decisions.
- View marketing uses of branding. Download the transcript.
- Watch the video segment concerning Brand, Design, and Differentiation as discussed by Tom Peters (Tom Peters Company ©1999-2014) to supplement your understanding of product branding by Tom Peters-Filmed by BVO 2009 and now available via YouTube™ at:
