GEO 200 Worksheet Template Guidelines and Rubric

Overview: Each worksheet activity in this course provides you with an opportunity to engage deeply with a specific region by analyzing the fundamental themes of geography that characterize that region. By engaging in these activities, you will develop the key skills necessary to analyze the region you chose for your final project. Complete each question fully—not just to receive full points for the question, but also to gain valuable feedback from your instructor on honing your skills.

Prompt: Complete the following steps:

1. Select a region from the list provided in the assigned module in Blackboard to address the questions related below. Selecting a region outside of the list provided without instructor guidance may result in each question being marked “Not Evident in Submission” if your selection is not accurately representative of an appropriate region.
2. Address each question in the worksheet below in detail.
  - a) Refer to your module resources and the Themes of Geography resource for more information about the fundamental themes to help you complete this worksheet.
  - b) Each response should describe the region you have selected in detail and be a minimum of four complete sentences (40 words). (Paraphrase the information; do not quote or copy and paste from the text).
3. Once you have completed this worksheet, save your worksheet file and upload it to Blackboard to submit.

Region Name:
1. Location and Connectivity: What are the absolute and relative locations of the region or subregion you have selected? What is the connectivity of this region to others?
1. Physical Characteristics: How would you describe the climate, physiography, landscape, and natural hazards of the region or subregion you have selected? Ensure you address at least three of the physical characteristics listed above for the purposes of this worksheet. Note: This is part of the Place theme of geography.

1. Human Characteristics: What are the language families/groups, religions, races, and cultures of the region or subregion you have selected? What is the population density and economic development of the region or subregion? Note: This also is part of the Place theme of geography.
1. Human/Environmental Interactions: How do the physical and human characteristics interact to produce notable observations of the landscape in the region or subregion you have selected?
1. Movement: With how much ease and ability do ideas, goods, and people flow in and out of the region or subregion you have selected? What drives this movement?
